Proclamation by the Governor.

COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

For the information and guidance of all officers, at the approaching election, I have caused to be herewith published an act of the Legislature of Kentucky, entitled, "an act to amend Chapter 15, of the Revised Statutes, entitled, 'Citizens, Expatriation, and Aliens'."

The strict observance and enforcement of this, and all other laws of this State regulating elections, are earnestly enjoined and required, as being alike due to a faithful discharge of duty, to the purity of the elective franchise, and to the sovereign will of the people of Kentucky, expressed through their Legislature.

Given under my hand as Governor of Kentucky, at Frankfort, this 20th day of July, 1863, and in the 72d year of the Commonwealth.

J. F. ROBINSON.

By the Governor,
D. C. WICKLIFFE, Secretary of State.

CHAPTER 159.

AN ACT to amend chapter 15 of the Revised Statutes, entitled "Citizens, Expatriation, and Aliens."

§ 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That any citizen of this State who shall enter into the service of the so-called Confederate States, in either a civil or military capacity, or into the service of the so-called Provisional Government of Kentucky, in either a civil or military capacity, or having before entered such service of either the Confederate States or Provisional Government, shall continue in such service after this act takes effect, or shall take up or continue in arms against the military forces of the United States or the State of Kentucky, or shall give voluntary aid and assistance to those in arms against said forces, shall be deemed to have expatriated himself, and shall no longer be a citizen of Kentucky, nor shall he again be a citizen, except by permission of the Legislature, by a general or special statute.

§ 2. That whenever a person attempts, or is called on to, exercise any of the constitutional or legal rights and privileges belonging only to citizens of Kentucky, he may be required to negative on oath the expatriation provided in the first section of this act; and upon his failure or refusal to do so, shall not be permitted to exercise any such right or privilege.

§ 3. This act to be of force in thirty days from and after its passage.

Passed and became a law, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding, March 11, 1862.

All papers throughout the State will publish this proclamation and the accompanying act until the election, and send bills to the Secretary of State.

Latest from Morgan.

The following was communicated to the Governor yesterday:

"GOVERNOR: Operator at Genl. Boyle's office says they have been fighting Morgan up the river somewhere, and that Morgan had been whipped, and it was thought he would have to surrender as he was hemmed in so tight."

The Louisville Journal of Saturday last says. We have intelligence far more reliable than ordinary telegraphic despatches, that John Morgan and his men, at the latest dates, were about twenty miles west of Gallipolis, Ohio, hemmed in by Federal troops on land and gunboats in the river, and that there was every probability of his capture. God grant that we may soon hear the last of him.

The Presbytery of West Lexington, and adjourned to meet in Salem church, Clarke county, on the eighth (8th) day of September next, at 3 o'clock P. M., and will be opened with a sermon by the Moderator, Rev. J. E. Spilman.

The following gentlemen have recently been elected to constitute the Board of Directors of the Northern Bank in Louisville: L. L. Warren, President, and Messrs. W. E. Glover, E. A. Gardner, R. A. Robinson, Wm. Hughes, D. B. Leight, and Robert Marrell, Directors.

Gen. Anderson, of Fort Sumpter fame, and formerly in command of the Department of the Cumberland, is in very bad health. He is spending the season at Bridgeport, Conn., in the hope of benefitting his debilitated condition. His physicians forbid him to appear or speak in public.

Rev. Thos. C. McKee.

The Journal makes a bling at Mr. McKee, Democratic candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction, trying to make him out a sympathizer with the rebellion. Mr. McKee voted for Mr. Crittenden in 1861. Subsequently, having changed his residence to Owensboro, he voted for Judge Yeaman for Congress. He is a much better Union man than the editor of the Journal.—Louisville Democrat, July 17.

If the Rev. Thomas C. McKee did vote for Mr. Crittenden in 1861, and for Judge Yeaman in 1862, as stated in the paragraph of the Democrat, he violated the election laws of the State, and is liable to a prosecution for illegal voting.

Mr. Crittenden was elected at a special election in June 1861, and at that time Mr. McKee was not entitled to a vote in the State of Kentucky. He was a citizen of the State of Indiana, in March 1861, when he was called to the pastoral charge of the Baptist church in this city, and removed here in the latter part of April or first of May. He removed from here to Owensboro late in the Fall of 1862, and not having been a citizen of the State two years, or of the county of Daviess one year preceding the election of Judge Yeaman, he was not then a legal voter in that county, or of any other county in the State. How then could he have voted at either of the elections alluded to by the Democrat, unless he violated the law?

But the statement of his having voted for Mr. Crittenden is not true. We have examined the poll books of both voting places in this city and find that he did not vote at all. As to his voting for Judge Yeaman, we are not advised, but in relation to that, we only have to say, that if he did, he voted illegally, and any man who would do so, more particularly a minister of the gospel, is not a suitable man for the honorable and responsible office to which this reverend gentleman aspires.

But there are other good reasons why Mr. McKee is not qualified for this office. He is not a loyal citizen of the State of Kentucky. It is a notorious fact that he is and has been, from the first of our troubles, a Southern sympathizer, or Southern Rights man, if not a Secessionist. And when the rebel army had possession of Frankfort in 1862, he openly affiliated with the rebels, giving them aid and comfort in his conversations, if not in a more substantial way.

Gold is still falling. On Thursday it sold at New York 26 1/2; at Cincinnati at 24, and at Louisville at 24 per cent premium.

KENTUCKY REBELS KILLED.—Major Thos. Y. Brent, of the rebel army, son of the late Hon. T. Brent of Paris, in the fight of Green River Bridge, on the Fourth of July. Thos. J. Current, also of Bourbon County, was killed in the same fight. At the Lebanon fight, J. V. Moore, of North Middletown, Bourbon county, was killed on the rebel side.

It appears that General Paul was not killed, but dangerously wounded, in the battle at Gettysburg. He was still alive at last accounts. Colonel Root, of the 94th New York, also reported killed, was uninjured.

ARRIVAL OF PRISONERS.—A detachment of Federal soldiers arrived at Covington on the cars from Lexington, Thursday evening, having in charge seventy-one rebel prisoners. The majority of them belonged to Morgan's thieving gang. They were captured at Lebanon and other points in Kentucky, before the horse-thief left the State.

During the campaign of 1814 a young Norman conscript was standing at "support arms." Why don't you fire? said his lieutenant, furiously. "Why should I fire on these men?" replied the greenhorn, "they haven't done anything to me." At that moment his comrade fell dead beside him. "Lieutenant," said the rustic, beginning to wake up, "I believe these chaps are firing bullets." "Of course they are, boobey, and they will kill you." With that the conscript began to blaze away, and fought like a tiger till the close of the action.

FROST.—It is a rarity to suffer from frosts in July, says the Indianapolis Journal, but in the time-table of the season we have had October weather, and an October frost. The frost of Wednesday night was severe enough to cut down sweet-potatoes and other tender plants in some localities near the city. The blackened and blasted ruins look sadly out of place.

MARYLAND FINANCES.—The Baltimore American states that since the close of the last fiscal year there has been employed in the purchase of State of Maryland stocks for the sinking fund $240,957, and for redemption of overdue stocks of the State $279,775, and there remained in the Treasury after payment of July interest on the State debt, &c., $772,539.94.

PROMOTION OF GEN. GRANT AND MEADE.—Gen. Grant has been commissioned a Major General in the Regular Army of the United States, and Gen. Meade, a Brigadier General in the Regular Army.

Wm. Timberlake, who scaled the walls of the Kentucky Penitentiary at Frankfort, and escaped, some time ago, was brought back to his old quarters on Thursday by Marshal Butts, of Covington.

The Union men of Nicholas held a county meeting on Monday last, and nominated John W. Campbell, for re-election to the Legislature.

LATE TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

Morgan's Situation.

CINCINNATI, July 17.

Colonel Rankle, with about fifteen hundred men, encountered Morgan's forces at Berlin, Jackson county, this afternoon. The enemy lost four killed. No loss on our side. Morgan moved off in an easterly direction. It is supposed he is making for Pomeroy or a ford below Huntington Island. The roads leading to Pomeroy are blocked with trees for fifteen miles.

General Hobson's advance reached Pikesburg to-day twelve hours after Morgan left. The Gazette's Pomeroy special says that the rebels on Thursday burned the steam sawmill and the bridge across the canal at Jasper, and the bridge across the Scioto river above Pikesburg. This morning they burned the flour-mill and the railroad depot at Jackson. They completely sacked the town, and carried off all the horses found.

LATER.—The following is the latest intelligence from Morgan's raid, which we take from the Cincinnati Gazette of Saturday morning:

We have but little to add of Morgan's movements, beyond what is given in our dispatches from Columbus and Portsmouth.

At two o'clock A. M. this morning we learned at headquarters that Morgan's advance after being repulsed at Jackson by Col. Rankle, moved back and thence south. He afterwards turned and moved northward and crossed the Scioto and Hocking Valley Railroad at Berlin, moved south toward Oak Hill. Finding our men in force there he again turned northward to Wilkesville.

Forces went down the pike from Athens and have obstructed the roads so that Morgan cannot get out in that direction. The latest dispatch says Morgan was moving in the direction of Pomeroy. A portion of Gen. White's forces, from Western Virginia, have been brought down, and on the Marietta & Cincinnati Railroad, to prevent Morgan crossing that road.

Our gunboats are at Pomeroy and points above, and if the people will only turn out and fell trees and impede his passage, he may yet be captured.

From Special Dispatches to the Cincinnati Commercial of Saturday.

A dispatch, this afternoon, received from Governor Tod, expressed confident belief that John Morgan and his raiding band will very shortly be captured or destroyed. He is surrounded, and all avenues for his escape are closed against him.

The Richmond Enquirer, of the 14th, in an editorial says:

"The fall of Vicksburg, the retreat of Bragg, the repulse of Lee, and the advance on Charleston, are all serious disasters, the most serious that have attended our arms since the commencement of the war."

Richmond papers conceal their great distress under a bold front. The Whig says:

"The intelligence from Lee falls short of the promise of the dispatches published yesterday, and proves a grievous disappointment to the high-wrought hopes of the public."

"Superadded to the calamity at Vicksburg, it casts a sombre shadow over our affairs. But we must constantly bear in mind that true greatness is revealed in its noblest attributes, and we must resolve that come what may, the cause shall never go down, nor lack courageous hearts or stout arms enough to bear it on to glorious triumph."

"CHARLESTON, July 10.—The firing on both sides ceased at 6:30 P. M. The principal fighting has been with Battery Wagner, on Morris Island. Four monitors were engaged from 5 A. M. to 2 P. M. They then withdrew for one hour.

"A tug-boat supplied them with ammunition, and they renewed the attack at three o'clock. The infantry fighting has also been severe. The Yankees made two assaults on Fort Wagner, and were repulsed. Our casualties were about one hundred and fifty, killed, wounded and missing, including three officers killed—Captains Haskell and Cheever and Lieutenant Bell. It is supposed the fight will be renewed to-morrow, 11th."

A boat arrived at Pomeroy at 7 o'clock, and reported Morgan's advance within two miles of Wilkesville, seventeen miles from Pomeroy. Our forces are both in his front and rear, hemming him between the rugged hills of Meigs and Jackson counties, which is almost a sure guarantee that there is no possible chance of his escape.

The rebel army has not passed through the Blue Ridge Gaps, as announced, having been delayed by rains, but is undoubtedly intending to move into Loudon Valley, and thence down to its old base of supplies on the Rappahannock, without halting for a stand either near Manassas or Warrenton.

WHAT YOUNG PEOPLE SHOULD KNOW.—The best inheritance that people can leave children is the ability to help themselves. This is better than a hundred thousand dollars apiece. In any trouble or difficulty they will have two excellent servants ready, in the shape of their two hands. Those who can do nothing and have to be waited on, are helpless, and easily disheartened at the misfortunes of life. Those who are active and hardy men, trouble with a cheerful face, and soon surmount them. Let young people, therefore learn to do as many different things as possible.

Every farmer's boy should know how, sooner or later.

1. To dress himself, black his own shoes, cut his brother's hair, wind a watch, sew on a button, make a bed and keep all his clothes in perfect order.

2. To harness a horse, grease a wagon and drive a team.

3. To carve and wait on a dinner table.

4. Milk the cows, shear the sheep, and dress a veal or mutton.

5. To recon money, and keep accounts accurately and according to good book-keeping rules.

6. To write a neat, appropriate, briefly expressed business letter, in a good hand, and to fold and subscribe it properly.

7. To plow, sow grain and grass seed, drive a mowing machine, swing a scythe, build a stack and a load of hay.

8. To put up a package, build a fire, whitewash a wall, mend broken tools, and regulate a clock.

There are many other things which would render boys more useful to themselves and others—these are merely a specimen. But the young man who can do all these things well, and who is ready at all times to assist others, will command for more respect and esteem than if he knew merely how to drive fast horses, smoke cigars, play cards, and talk nonsense to foolish young ladies at parties.—[Ex.]

Young women should set good examples, for young men are always following them.

One of those ready "turns" which some of the London papers are gathering together, and publishing under the heading of "American Sharp Hits and Witty Sayings," may be considered the following, which we commend to their recipients:

Not long since, in a car running out of a pleasant town in the State of Ohio, a lady was accidentally distributing tracts, which were always graciously and courteously received by the passengers. The tract, however, which this female colporteur was circulating on the present occasion happened to be entitled, "Give me thy Heart," an excellent and popularly written treatise upon the divine injunction.

This tract she presented to a very quiet gentleman, who read its title, and with a pleasant smile upon his face, said:

"I am sorry, but I really can't do it, madam; this woman sitting by me is my wife!"

The passengers burst into roars of laughter, in which the tract-distributor herself could not help joining.

THE EARTH IS SAFE.—The London Times complains that mankind are using up the world too fast. Incalculable cultivation, it is alleged, is stripping earth of its coat of mould, which cannot be replaced except by a return to the primeval forest. There are facts in existence a little inconsistent with this very alarming statement. The plain ground between has certainly been cultivated for three thousand years, and is as rich as ever. The country round Damascus was a garden in the beginning of history and is a garden now. No forest has ever renewed the soil of Northern India, nor is the glorious fertility of Asia Minor artificial. Districts have, it is true, perished, but it has always been from human folly, the cutting down of the trees till the rain ceased, and the wells sank, and is now occurring in some parts of Upper India. When we conquered the Punjab, the vast province did not contain one tree, and in thirty years would have become like the Babylonian desert, and from the same cause, a sterile plain.—[Spectator.]

"Tell Ada Clara," says Quilp, "that I admire her genius as much as any man in Boston; but that she made a little error of fact, the other day, so manifest to all men that so good an observer as Ada ought to have known better. Men do admire a reasonably 'small foot in women,' I admit, but 'an hour-glass waist,' never. A few quite young dandies fancy slender girls—slender I mean, in waist, shoulders, and general figure, but of a thousand men of my acquaintance, I never heard one praise a slim waist, and I have heard hundreds speak of being as a monstrous grotesque blunder. Indeed, so much are men struck with this absurd custom, that they often mention it to refute the statement that 'women dress to please men,' or else to prove that women can never understand a man's taste in woman. The latter dogma is probably the true one. Nineteen men in twenty, for example, prefer an over-plump woman to a lean one, but ninety-nine women in a hundred think the contrary is the fact, and perhaps, for that reason, abhor adipose as if it were leprosy!"

Let those who have doubted the virtues of Bell's Censor Brackets, if any such there be, read the following Certificate from Gentlemen well known in this community, and doubt no more.

Its general introduction into the army will save the lives of thousands of our soldiers.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 3d, 1863.

We the undersigned, have seen the good effects produced by the use of Dr. JOHN BELL'S CENSOR Brackets in cases of general debility and prostration of the system, and believe its general use would prevent disease and relieve much suffering. Among our soldiers particularly would this be the case, especially those who are exposed to miasmatic influences in the Southern climate.
